Contributing to the development of testing proposal, as a means of reflection in search of quality, in the different axis and functions that make the National Autonomous University of Nicaragua, Managua (UNAN-MANAGUA) different from other universities in topics of teaching, internacionalization, university management, investigation, extension and projection. It will allow the teaching-learning processes in a more dynamic, motivating and meaningful way.

This constant renovation that distinguishes our university, is part of the daily chores of the magazine Torreón Universitario, that for being trans-disciplinary, shows a variety of scientific papers from environment, academic topics, culture, geography, and social, having as a main axis the human being welfare.

It is important to highlight, communicate and divulgate the balance and combination of the different topics that influence our context, in order to form people with abilities and skills to solve complex problems in a creative, innovated, and critical way.

I invite the university community to germ the seed of the searching, scientific and innovator world, as well of sharing those knowledges to human being.

To Liberty through University!
